

Cercis canadensis Eastern Redbud

Category: Deciduous small flowering tree
Hardiness: Zone 4-9
Foliage: Heart shaped leaves medium to dark green leaves that turn yellow in the fall
Blooms: Lavender-purple or pink blooms in early spring before the leaves emerge
Bark: Smooth; thin, brownish gray to black bark
Shape: Irregular, upright, rounded, vase-shaped.
Mature Size: 20-30ft tall by 15-25ft wide
Growth Rate: Moderate to Fast
Shade: Part shade to Full Sun, flowers best in full sun
Adaptability: Well drained moist fertile humus soil, well limed, sandy, clay or loam soil that is well drained. Not tolerant of flooded soil or compacted soil.
Native Habitat: Throughout Eastern United States, from the Northeast to Florida , along the Gulf Coast to Texas and into Northern Mexico
Uses: Specimen tree, containers, flowering native tree, naturalizing & group plantings

